

DURRENBERGER SCHOLARSHIP FOR WOMEN IN SCIENCE

Gwen and Weldon Durrenberger both shared fond memories for their college days, and because of this love and his deep love for his wife, Gwen, Weldon made a gift of property to Texas State University which has been developed into the Gwen S. Durrenberger Endowment for Women in Science. Both Weldon and Gwen had exciting careers in the sciences. Weldon wanted to create a lasting memory for Gwen and at the same time assist students who were pursuing a degree in one of the sciences or technology.

- Undergraduate awards will be $3,000. Graduate awards will be $4,000.
- Successful candidates should be pursuing an undergraduate or graduate degree in one of the sciences, technology or engineering.
- Candidates can apply for the award or may also be nominated.
- Evidence of excellence to be included in the application packet should include, but is not limited to the following:
 - An updated CV emphasizing scholarly accomplishments and previous honors.
 - An up-to-date college transcript.
 - A statement of personal and professional goals related to how a degree in the sciences may have greater societal impact.
 - Three letters of reference.
- Completed application packets should be left in the Dean's Office, College of Science, 201 Centennial Hall.
- Application deadline is April 16, 2007 with selections to be completed by April 30.

<http://www.science.txstate.edu/scholarships.php#Science>